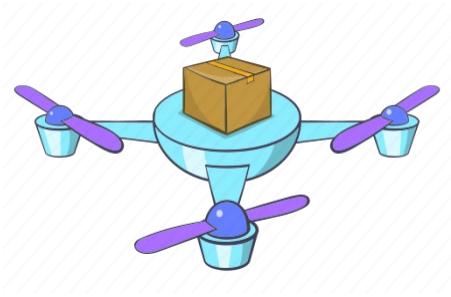
Booya - Droning On

Zu, Hoo, Boo and Goo (they are walking in this sequence) are merrily walking through the garden not searching for anything in particular. Something catches Zu's eye and she stops suddenly, then whistles really loudly to get everyone's attention and points in a particular direction. The monsters stop and turn to look in the same direction. Their eyes go wide in surprise and admiration. In the clearing ahead they see a drone with four propellers on each side lying on the ground.



A controller (see image below) for the drone is lying on the platform in the center of the drone.

The monsters get really excited and dash forward but Buck suddenly jumps out from behind the drone and sticks his tongue out; making funny noises. The Booya monsters get the fright of their lives and fly in all directions, landing in various spots with a thud (all monsters simply fall on their backside in various spots). Buck begins to laugh loudly as he always enjoys tormenting the Booya monsters. He then jumps onto the drone and leans against the controller proudly, indicating that he owns the drone.

The other monsters see this and will have none of it. Zu turns into a ball and rushes forward while Boo flames up and runs towards Buck. They meet Buck head on where he is standing. A quarrel begins, with Boo and Buck having a tug-of-war by holding onto the lever of the controller and Zu sitting on top of Buck trying to pull him away from the drone. Buck is turning red in anger while holding onto the controller with one hand and trying to push Zu off him with the other. The flames on Boo's head have lit up as he struggles to pull the lever away from Buck. Meanwhile, Hoo manages to pull himself up onto the drone but Goo, being large, is struggling to get up. Hoo joins the Tug-Of-War and tries to pull lever of the controller in his direction. The pulling of the lever in different directions results in the drone starting up. Immediately all four propellors begin to rotate (slowly at first and then really fast). The drone lifts off from the ground with Goo hanging precariously on the side. The monsters are so busy fighting they do not realize that they have risen high into the air. It is only when they see a bird flying by that they notice they are up in the air. They all scream together and hug each other tightly. Goo is screaming while hanging from the side. On hearing Goo's screams, Buck decides to take action. He leaves the huddle and rushes to the side where Goo is hanging and extends his hand. Surprised, Goo takes Buck's hand and is pulled up. Once on top, Goo and Buck acknowledge each other with a nod. Buck then turns and looks at Boo and in an instant they both rush and grab onto the lever of the controller together. They stare at each other angrily and start pulling the lever in different directions. The drone moves violently from side to side as neither Buck nor Boo are letting go. The other monsters are tossed around and land up hanging on different sides (we can choose which monster is hanging on which side). Goo is getting more and more agitated as he hangs from the side once again and this causes him to fart really loudly. The smell of Goo's fart causes one of them to press a button or level that makes the propellers of the drone to stop flying so they end up hurtling towards the ground. They all cling together in a huddle and just when they think they're done for, Zu becomes big and inflates into a parachute causing them to safely float and we end on them gently floating in the air….