MEET THE CHARACTERS

RED—BOO

Volcanic-body, red-head, impatient, …short tempered …volcanic eruptions come out of his head when he loses it…but ice-cream cools him down….or anything cold….he has a gentle crush on the purple monster character….but does not know how to express his liking to her and always gets the wrong thing to impress her….his only way of showing he likes her is anger or through his monster martial arts moves so he is always using his own made up moves to tackle the others or obstacles

ORANGE -Goo

Always hungry, sleepyhead, slow, strong, cheerful – he farts rainbows after eating making the others run from him….bringing the dog sniffing around….everything bounces off him….

GREEN – HOO

Smart, inquisitive….curious….toys and other gadgets in the house are a fascination for him… he loves to collect what we think are useless things that are thrown away by the humans which helps them in situation – e.g. buttons, pins, rotten biscuit, ball of wool, screw, bulb, a picture, camera lens, shoe laces, squeaky ball etc…..everything is new and interesting to him….he is also a prankster…smart prankster …

PURPLE - ZU

Childish, cute, energetic, she is a real DRAMA QUEEN …. …she combusts from a small little creature to a big ball that can crush anyone that comes in her way when she panics, needs to save themselves from a situation or just for a laugh.

YELLOW – -FOO - he is not there in Season 2

Innocent, shy, scaredy-cat, over-dependent, sensitive…he is the cry baby of the group and when he cries big tears fall…he genuinely wants to be friends with the dog….he also has a strong sense of smell which takes them to the food. Knowing this, the gluttonous monster orange guy keeps a watch on him to see where he goes and follows him everywhere…he likes to dance but is a very clumsy dancer

BOOYA SEASON 1

Logline: Hilarious adventures of five adorable kooky monsters who live under the bed of a kid.

Concept: Living under the bed is easy and kind of safe but these cute characters are impulsive, curious, always ready for some fun and have an insatiable appetite for the world outside their own. And they are forever hungry too. But they have one large inquisitive and silly dog (given their size the dog is large to them) to deal with who is hell bent on messing up their plans and create trouble.

But a cute playful dog is not going to keep them hiding for too long so they venture out from under the bed and find ways to dodge the snoopy sniffy inquisitive dog.

Depending on the situation they are sometimes friends and sometimes foes resulting in funny misadventures some of their own doing and some that are external.

While they can eat just about anything including our little pooch's food, they discover that their favorite food is little candy that looks like M&M's ….but alas this can also sometimes have side effects that lead to hilarious situations.

BOOYA SEASON 2

CONCEPT

Logline : Adventures of four kooky monsters (BOO, HOO, ZU & GOO) who have now ventured into the outside world in the backyard of the house. Life is no bed of roses for these crazy guys and every day brings a new adventure as they explore the unknown :

-meet creatures that are alien to them but normal to the human world – a bird, frog, spider, mice, snails, bugs, fish in the small pond, cat, dog, spider, worms etc.…

-find objects (toys, tools, food (everyday items we use and throw) that fascinate them but also create over the top situations. These objects/props become characters in episodes.

-Encounter one of their own (ECKO) but who is their nemesis (a frenemy) coz they have invited themselves to a world that has been his all this while. Will he allow them to stay or chase them away.

ECKO has the ability to mimic and change his voice (something he has learnt in order to survive in the backyard, and he uses this to his advantage when he wants to help the monsters or fool them. The Booya monsters will always be confused on whether he is fooling them or helping them. At times Buck's voice changing could backfire leading to funny situations.

ECKO lives in the abandoned dog kennel in the backyard which he uses to his advantage when he does not want to be disturbed…with his ability to mimic voices, he keeps the other creatures away including the monsters pretending that the dog is in the kennel.
